http://adapt

SECTION TITLE

College of Humanities

One of the UK's leading centres for research and teaching

TEXT 1/2 COLUMN

Welcome

Welcome to the College of Humanities at the University of Exeter where over 75% of College research has been rated as world-leading or internationally excellent. Spread across two south west campuses in Exeter and Penryn, we offer outstanding teaching in Archaeology, Art History and Visual Culture, Classic and Ancient History, Drama, English, Film Studies, History, Liberal Arts, Modern Languages and Theology and Religion.

IMAGE 1/2 COLUMN

02

Image of either the Exeter or Penryn campus

VIDEO 1 COLUMN

Working at the College of Humanities

This short video will give you an insight to what it is like belonging to an college that focuses on all aspects of human experience, culture and creativity.

Select the play button to start the video.

03

Still from Ken burns style video

Transcript

HOTSPOT 1 COLUMN

Humanities teaching structure

With such a broad range of specialisms, let's meet the team.

Press the + to discover more MOBILE Select the arrow followed by the + to discover more.

04

Family tree diagram
Andrew Thorpe

Sarah Hamilton, James Clark, Jo Gill

HOTSPOT FEEDBACK 1 COLUMN

Professor Andrew Thorpe

Pro-Vice-Chancellor and Executive Dean

Professor Andrew Thorpe has overall responsibility for around 4,000 students and 200 academic staff across a wide range of disciplines. He is currently researching twentieth-century British political history and in his most recent book analyses the major parties in Britain during the Second World War.

For more information, on our staff, click here:
http://humanities.exeter.ac.uk/about/staff/

04-1

Andrew Thorpe

HOTSPOT FEEDBACK 1 COLUMN

Professor Sarah Hamilton

Associate Dean - Education

Professor Sarah Hamilton researches the religious, social and cultural history of early medieval Europe between c. 900 ad c. 1200.

For more information, on our staff, click here:
http://humanities.exeter.ac.uk/about/staff/

04-2

Sarah Hamilton

HOTSPOT FEEDBACK 1 COLUMN

Professor James Clark

Associate Dean - Research and Knowledge Transfer

James Clark is Professor of History at the University of Exeter where he explores themes in religion, intellectual and cultural life across medieval and early modern historical periods.

For more information, on our staff, click here:
http://humanities.exeter.ac.uk/about/staff/

04-3

James Clark

HOTSPOT FEEDBACK 1 COLUMN

Professor Jo Gill

Associate Dean - International and Development

As a Professor in the English Department, Jo Gill teaches and researches in modern and contemporary English and American Literature. She has been awarded a Leverhulme Reasearch Fellowship for 2015-16 and is a Senior Fellow of the Higher Education Academy.

For more information, on our staff, click here:
http://humanities.exeter.ac.uk/about/staff/

04-4

Jo Gill

MODULE BACKGROUND IMAGE

Working for the College of Humanities

We have developed strong links with external partners to provide a first class educational experience, delivered by world-class researchers and supported by exceptional professional service staff.

Select the + to discover more.

- Teaching and Learning
- Research
- Admin

Teaching and Learning

The College of Humanities is recognised as offering outstanding teaching and learning across a number of related subjects. We are ranked highly in The Times and other league tables for subjects such as Archaeology and Classic and Ancient History. Both English and Drama are also renowned for world-leading research and teaching. Finally, our Theology and Religion department is a centre of excellent for teaching and learning.

For more information, click here:
http://humanities.exeter.ac.uk/subjects/

Research

We are a research-intensive college with specialist researchers working across all disciplines of the college. 75% of our research is now rated as world leading or internationally excellent according to the Research Excellence Framework 2014, with Theology and Religion achieving 85%.

For more information, click here:
http://humanities.exeter.ac.uk/research/

Admin

Body here

SECTION COMPLETE

Section complete

You have now completed the College of Humanities section. Please return to the main menu and choose the Summary section to finish the Academic Induction module.

Select the button below to return to the menu.

Return to menu